Dear Dr. Haselkorn:

In response to your inquiry for permission to publish the recent study "Expelling America: Coordinated Strategy of a Radical Entente", which you produced while under contract with the Agency, the following information is provided regarding your use of this study.

As set forth in paragraph 7 of your contract, and as a specific condition of the contract, you agreed to observe and be bound by the Code of Conduct and all conduct regulations of this organization--that is--to avoid the appearance of using public office for private gain.

Permission is granted to publish this study, as presented to the Agency, in a scholarly journal or other publication providing you receive no compensation and no tangible private gain results.

However, if you wish to publish this study in exchange for financial profit, you must alter the study. The published study must be distinct from the study prepared for the Agency so as to constitute a separate, different product. Nevertheless, whether the study is published for profit or not, you must disclose to the publisher and have printed on the document the following wording:

"This study was funded in whole or in part by the United States Government. This study does not necessarily reflect the views of the U.S. Government."

I trust this will answer your questions regarding the study which we have found to be very insightful. Best wishes in 1986.

Sincerely yours,

Herbert E. Meyer
Vice Chairman
